What is the Education you want
For the Future?

Education that I want for the future is affordable and quality for all the people, for all the children, that is the same for everyone.

I want a country that prioritize education with many schools and universities free.

What is the Education you want for the future?

No futuro quero uma educação em que as pessoas possam desenvolver sua autonomia e ampliar sua consciência de classe. Seguindo o pensamento de Paulo Freire "Educação deveria ser prática de liberdade". É para conseguirmos uma educação que nos proporcione praticar a liberdade, temos que lutar, ampliar nossa visão política, colocar governantes que pensam na educação como verdadeira "arma" para combater as desigualdades sociais, políticas e econômicas, e não aquele que deseja armar a população como solução mágica.

O país precisa de mudança de educação continuada e valorização dos profissionais da educação, escolas com boa infraestrutura, elaboração de currículo multidisciplinar que valorize a diversidade brasileira abordando temas como: sexualidade, racismo, homofobia e outros, desenvolver projetos que levan às famílias e escola (participando da formação intelectual da criança e exercendo a cidadania).

A educação tem o dever de incluir e formar cidadãos críticos e atuantes na sociedade, assim exercemos a democracia.

I believe in an education that seeks to make people citizen.

Education should cease to be regarded only as a mechanism of social ascension but also as a way to make society better through teachings such as respect, empathy, ethics, morals, rights and duties.

Such an education must be supported by pillars formed by Government, society, NGOs and private initiatives.

For this to occur, all these institutions must find common interests and objectives for a more collaborative education.

Thus, it will be possible to make teaching the best way to end various problems that plague the world and that could be solved through an education to citizens.

The education I want to the future

Thinking about an education for the future involves reflection on how to provide the student with a better development. whereby the education should not be restricted to the traditional way of teaching.

The education I want for the future is one in which the student participates actively in the educational process and builds his knowledge in interaction with the teacher and object of study.

This education is concerned with the overall formation of the student to act in society, because the learning happens contextualized with reality, allowing the student to reflect on the problems with which he is faced and seek to transform the world in a positively.

Therefore, for changes in education happen, it is necessary to understand that education will be more satisfactory if it provides the social insertion of the student.

The education I want for the future

I want for my future on education that enables people to transform themselves and the world for the better. That the school environment is conducive for people to share knowledge with freedom of expression, happy and enthusiasm.

That the teacher has the role of encouraging and mediating the process of teaching and learning with empathy and fully committing to education.

That the student is capable of reflecting, criticizing and perceiving himself as the generator of knowledge and transforming the world in an active way.

Finally, I want an education that will give students the fulfillment of their dreams and the formation of happy and fulfilled citizens.

Que educação eu quero para o futuro?

When I think about the future, the first word in my mind is technology. We lived in a new world. Every day something changes, renews itself. Every moment is a new discovery.

As well as the world change, the teaching in schools have change too. It is need to adapt to the new world. The kids to boring in technology. They were adapt so fast.

Then for the schools is necessary adapt the model of teach too. Insert in the schools and colleges new challenges, more interaction between students and machines.

The teachers must adapt to this new teaching model. To plan, to evaluate each student, making the more personal and more interactive teach. They need insert in class new forms, new plans, more games, more interactive with this technology.

With the technology we can reduce a space. Integrate the countries around the world. Everyone will be learning together. Learning about the new culture, new cities, new lifestyle, New job market. So, that was my hope for the education on future.

What education do I want for the future?

Today the studies are very "boring". The students are disinterested. Dropping out of school before concluding. Where parents are a little guilty.

I want for the future, firstly that parents be educated to raise their children, to pass the importance of the study and encourage the children to go to school.

That schools encourage students to search more knowledge. Where the way to a better future is an education.

The education I want for the future

In my opinion, the Brazilian education is <sup>source</sup> really bad and precarious. The main focus, for politicians, is not being up and qualify children and young people. It is sad, rotten, against and real.

In first time, I think the good and efficient education need change in government with more investment at schools. It's important too invest in a quality of public education.

I believe that need family's incentive and school's incentive for student. So the classes will be more productive and the teachers can teach better.

Finally, the education I want for the future is able to qualify all equally and train young people critics.

Evaluation

What education i want for Brazil?

In this moment, the education is topic of debate in all the Brazil. The current political landscape threatens all the developments we have had in our education in the last few years, and this is of particular concern to young people between the ages of 15 and 25.

The country will only grow when we change our way of learning by placing minorities in the spotlight. Quality education must stop being focus on the most favored classes, offering fairer opportunities for the whole society. As long as our basic education is not of a high quality, quotas will be necessary to give a chance for people to enter the college they want, becoming a professional of reference.

But if it is to speak as I believe our education should be, public education would be of the most quality, leading the student to choose between paid or free college, using his or her own criteria and not choosing into the only ones who would accept it.

I want more books in schools that only care about removing the cell phone from the classroom, instead of teaching the student that the technologies can serve as support for education. I want people not to be educated only in school but at home, creating human beings who care about each other. I want an education that makes people feel safe for who they are. I want an education for Brazil that would never exist in Brazil.

Que educação eu quero para o futuro?

"Man is nothing more than what education does of him" - this was a phrase spoken by Plato. We can tell about Brazil's education, think the bad quality, throughout history we tried, day-of-day-better our system, for that we have the best.

Be a phrase of Durkheim that tell "the population has an agreement with the state". We pay more money for Estado for send the beneficiaries, that be they: security, education, ~~health~~ ~~cheer~~, etc. but we don't have than the half. We want a good, amazing, education with extra structures, good teachers, good books, all this is very important, is basic! ~~the schools public's schools~~ public schools are expensive.

The Brazil can do investments education with money and companies together private companies.

In current scenario, as political and economic, our country presence waves and waves of misinformation, fake news and hopelessness. That creates the perfect scenario to radical politicians rise, and this can affect one of the most precious rights we have, democracy, such as German before nazism.

Therefore, for the future, I want an education that is capable of creates critical senses in population. Bring to them empathy, and less selfishness. Love instead war, and first of all I want an education that educates people how to be civilized and humanized, mostly in this barbaric era we are going thru. In which people kill each other, just because they have different opinions or costumes.

The process of educating

Education is the first step to future. If the people have a good education, they walk to progress, and the reverse is true. Knowledge is essential for a good quality of life and better understanding of the country's reality, and their politics and economy. But, why is the best form of education? What is the role of teacher and students? And what is the role of parents?

The education is a process that begins in the cradle. In the first part of life, the parents have active participation in the education of their children. Today, many parents are passing this responsibility to school, which make it a problem. So, parents must be present and participate together with the school of de educational process.

In the school the teacher should adapt to students and the different way of learning. The VARK model is a good way to differentiate the ways of learning. For a visual person, the teachers must use figures, different colors and shapes. For an auditory people, the teachers must speak slowly and repeat more times, they can use music and musical instruments. For a reading people, the teachers must do activities that involve copy and summaries. For a kinesthetic person the teacher must use dance, and activities that involve hands on activity.

Besides that, the school direction must be attentive to the student's school development, they must go along the educational process, which includes frequency and grades. If the student need to psychological help, the school must have adequate structure, with trained professionals such as psychologist and social assistant, because the student's problems can to disrupt the school development. The school direction must be attentive to problems like bullying and depression. These problems might cause many problems to school development.

Finally, it's important to realize that education is a process that involves many people. Education involves parents, teachers and school direction. All these groups must adapt to student and to perceive their difficulties. Yes, this is the education that I want to future.

What education that I want for the future?

If somebody ask me what education that I want for the future a long time ago, I probably would have answered that I wanted a quality education with many subjects, with good teachers and that all students would be good professionals with a satisfactory level of knowledge.

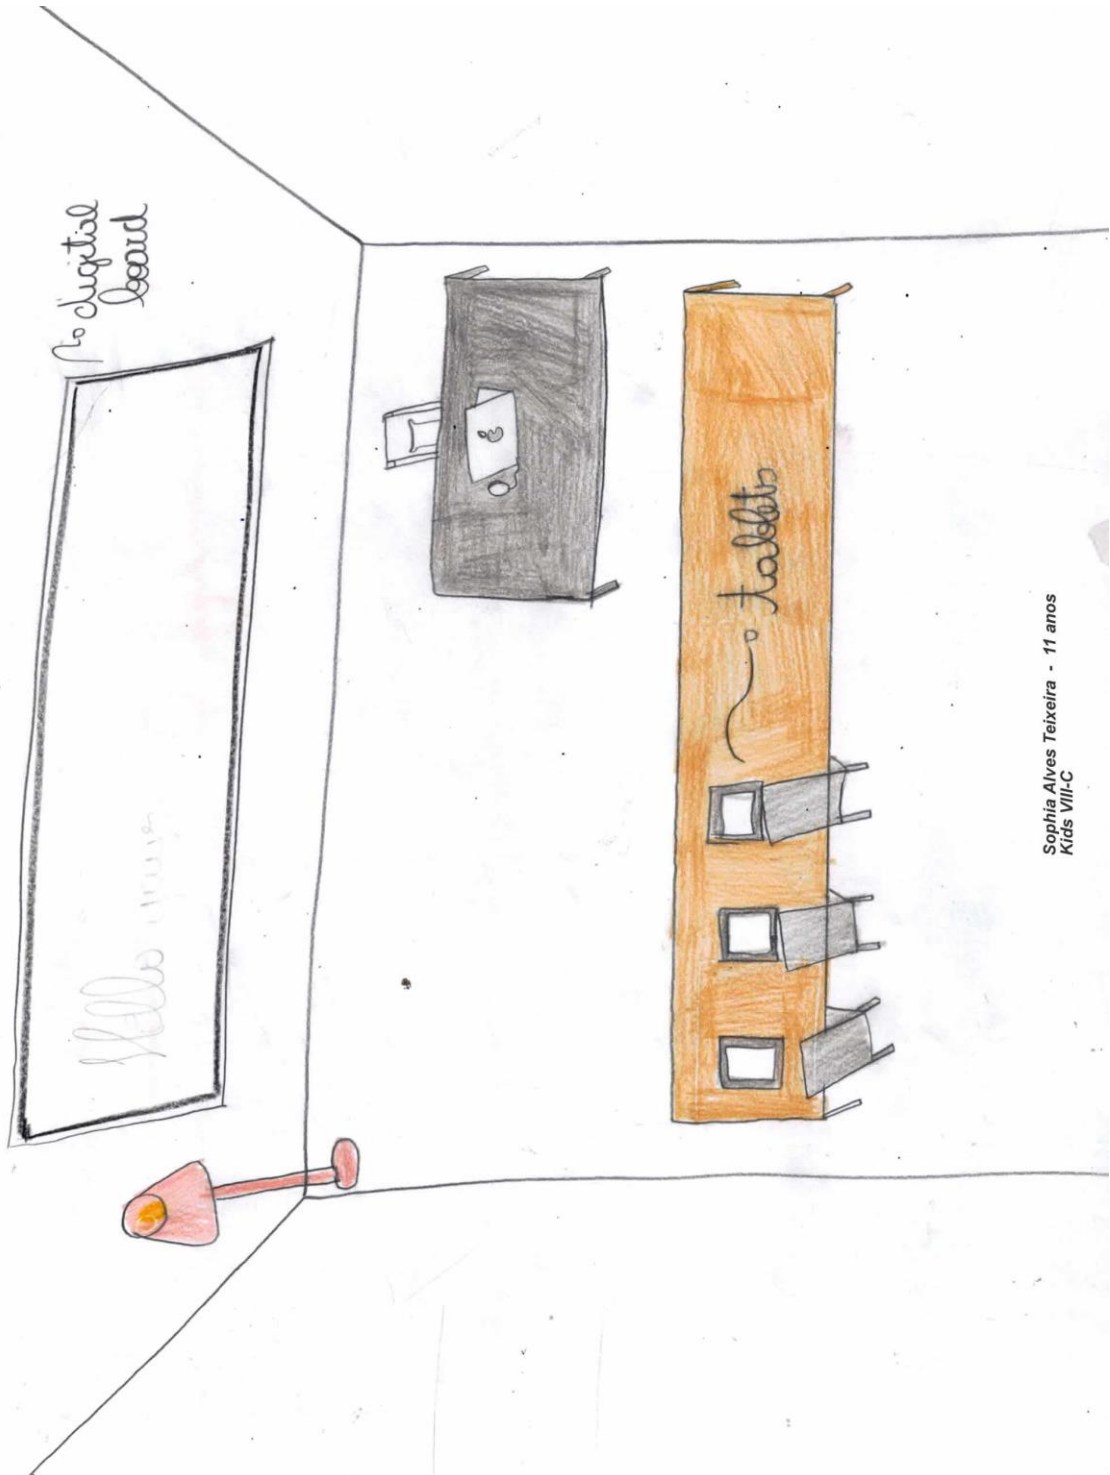

Today, I think different, because I have sure innumerable people need to be included in students programs, a large number of workers don't have a basic knowledge to have success in your job and the salaries aren't good, many people in Brazil receive one minimum wage, also they don't have access to education, leisure and food necessary for health, consequently we have an increase of violence, some kids work for traffic in the favelas for have some food.

The schools could offer vocational courses, with less subjects and many practice according the aptitude of each one, thus the kids with skill for math, for example, could learn subjects that developed this vocation and maybe this kid in the future would become somebody important in this area, because is important to study and practice, but do things you like is wonderful, it is the key for the success.

The public politics must be focus in the education, but not any education, they have focus in the vocational education with the inclusion of poor people, since that people really need some opportunity in their lives.

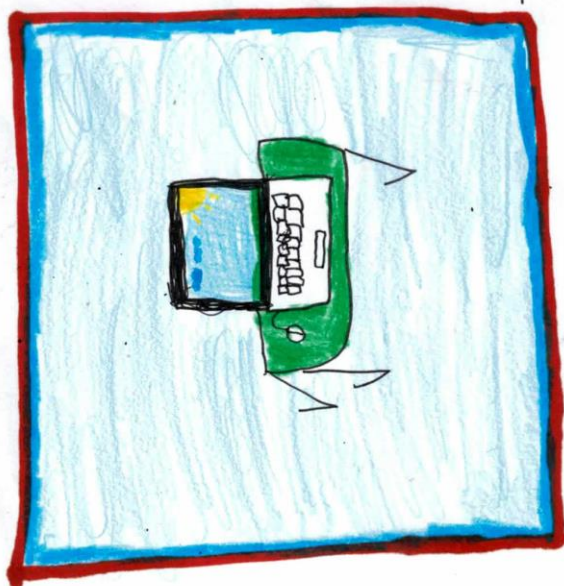

I believe the education that I want for the future is the education that includes everybody, with the same quality for rich people or poor people, where everyone can develop their professional skills.
